Meet the Parikrma family!

Just before school opens, we run a Teacher Orientation program to immerse the new teachers in the Parikrma Way and rejuvenate the old teachers with fresh ideas. The Parikrma Tree, a symbol of protection, safety, nurturing and growth for our students, teachers and parents (as seen in the image), played a significant role. On the first day of the Orientation, we presented the tree. By the afternoon, it was populated with pictures of all our teachers who wanted to follow the Parikrma Way, fostering a sense of belonging and connection. The next day, it became the Parikrma Feeling Tree, where teachers shared their feelings and aspirations through countless leaves that adorn the tree. This Parikrma Tree will be preserved as a reminder of our mission and purpose, and of the value we place on each member of our community.

"Education cannot be without love, exploration, and excellence. True education gives the child the freedom to explore and experiment with new learnings. This can be done if the child is guided by the teachers and exposed to the world outside the school. And every year, together with my teachers, I discover new layers to that meaning. Teaching can never be just a job. It is shaping children's lives, and that is a huge responsibility. It wrenches most out of us. No wonder teaching requires much of our love," founder Shukla Bose says.

Summer school

Like always, we run summer schools during holidays for some of our children who prefer special attention to perform better. A shout-out to the ESY volunteers who helped with the summer classes at two of our learning centres.

Other activities

Even during holidays, our children are always eager to seize opportunities to participate in activities they enjoy, showcasing their active engagement.

Some were spotted docking in record time at the TCS 10k Run, and many others attended the Sports for Social Impact workshop. Using fun outdoor games, students were exposed to the roles of kindness, self-discipline, gratitude, sharing, cooperation, and honesty.

New Blog Post

In the latest blog, founder Shukla Bose shares her thoughts and interactions with several of our alumni, after the team spent an evening at a restaurant run by a fellow alum.

Parikrma influencing broader landscapes

Founder Shukla Bose's impactful journey as a changemaker is one of many featured in a new eBook by Shenomics: She Leads with a Strategic Network. The eBook is a collection of women leaders who use their networks to lead with heart and purpose.

At the recently held AIM Leaders Council Breakfast Connect Meet - Parikrma, Head of Operations Anuradha Roy Chowdhury, addressed the topic: The non-profit data revolution - let's make it happen. Watch the video.

Alumni Corner

Our Parikrma Alumni Association members took the lead in organising the Annual Cricket tournament, a testament to their leadership and organisational skills. The tournament drew Parikrma Alumni from all batches, with the first batch Pioneers emerging as the winners. Each batch added a touch of creativity by designing their own T-shirts with names like Master Blaster, Parikrma Legends, High Tiders, Kauravas, OG Strikers, Royal Strikers, Sky Hawks, Amateurs, and X Strikers. Our students sponsored the branding and the logo, further strengthening the bond between the current students and the alumni. These events are clear signs that the young leaders of future Parikrma are emerging, and we applaud the young members of the Association for their excellent work.

We at the Parikrma Humanity Foundation are committed to transforming education through innovation and inclusion. Since COVID-19, we have fully transitioned to a blended learning model, integrating technology in classrooms to enhance engagement and improve outcomes.

While we have made significant strides, many of our teachers urgently need reliable laptops to conduct sessions with students and global mentors, create engaging learning content, and collect vital data on student performance. Most of our current laptops are outdated and in poor condition, limiting our ability to deliver the quality education we envision.

As the new academic year starts, we need more laptops to enable our new teachers.

Your generous support can make a transformative difference. By contributing to this fundraiser, you will help our teachers access the tools they need to inspire and educate, directly impacting the future of our students.

Every contribution matters, and no amount is too small. Once you pay, you will receive an ATG certificate via email.

Thank you for your continued support and belief in our mission.
